San Marino aims to welcome and establish a synergistic network among leading companies in the aerospace, aviation, research and innovation, technology, sustainability, and energy sectors. These companies can share their expertise and make the territory a hub of excellence and attraction.

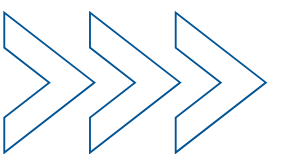

Cutting-edge new technologies can be a tool to design a future that aligns with sustainability and supports humanity, using exceptional technologies and tools that promote economic, cultural, and social development.

The event hosts B2B meetings, matchmaking sessions, demonstrations, workshops, conferences, and in-depth discussions on the aerospace and aviation theme: research, expertise, innovation, cutting-edge technologies for the sector, the supply chain, and the entire industry.

The event places a strong emphasis on the theme of sustainability, environmental preservation, and alignment with the Green Deal. It showcases advanced methodologies and cutting-edge technologies for an effective ecological transition, with a focus on new energy sources such as green hydrogen.

The event provides a unique opportunity for international business operators, companies, and startups to meet with key representatives and investors from the aerospace and aviation industry in all its facets, as well as the productive and technological entities within this realm, who may find interest and opportunities therein.

The event program is structured to target three well-defined audiences:

- B2B: Aerospace companies with particular interest in the sector of drones and space sub-supply
- TRAINING: Young students interested in choosing their professional training
- PUBLIC: Aerospace enthusiasts and curious
